DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 14 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 14 recites the limitation "the same thread material". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 18 recites the limitation "said loop". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-11-13, 16, 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chang et al. 7,049,380 in view of Tartaglia et al. 5,700,286. Chang et al. discloses a film/membrane 110, 114 made of biocompatible material impermeable to molecular transport which can be utilized on various substrates (see 21:28-30) including stents (24:48-55); wherein the film/membrane is made of a laminated material with at two different layers of material (21:42-50 it is obvious that different materials will have different thermal expansion coefficients). However Chan et al. does not limit the applications to the tubular devices. Tartaglia et al. teaches a stent capable of contracting and expanding wherein a film/membrane is wrapped/overlapped around a stent more than one full turn see (fig.1-7 5:1-6) and the use of drugs such as heparin (6:3-22); and a triangular shaped tab (see fig. 14 "100"). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to take the laminated film/membrane of Chang et al. and apply it to a stent by wrapping/overlapping it more than on full turn as taught by Tartaglia et al. because both devices utilize the same polymeric materials in the form of a sheet/ilm and Chang et al. also states (23:54-58) that the thermoplastic copolymer may be used in process of manufacturing films/membranes which is the same material utilized for both inventions.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 14-15 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 14 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
